

Product

Full Game and Platform Under Development

Monsarrat will launch Landing Party, the world's first outdoor roleplaying game, in June 2026.

See our vision.

After launch, Monsarrat will continue to grow the game with more adventures, and to spin out a game development platform so that other game makers can create outdoor video games.

Test Game Available Now

Now in beta test, Landing Party is available on Apple App Store and Google Play.

Landing Party is the world's first Outdoor RPG. It uses augmented reality to place an entire game world into your local park or back yard. Its 12 missions show a variety of roleplaying adventures: mazes to walk through, a shooter mission, a puzzle mission, an exploration mission, and more.

Its technology, including 7 patents:

- Adapts a game mission to fit a real world space of any shape or size,
- Allows players to manually move the game around obstacles such as park benches and bushes, and
- Prevents players from walking through 3D game content.

Monsarrat is only a startup with its first ever demo game. Please be kind with ratings and reviews.

Download game screenshots or see game videos.

Press Contact

Johnny Monsarrat, jmonsarrat@monsarrat.com.